they check their computer the Make, Model and Engine and showed me the part & price. They even have fog light for those who need it. Downside is the parking as they are in a busy street, I had to parallel park close to the hotel.

- For HONDA owners, we found a wonderful Honda garage! A sweet husband and wife own and run it. We've had three separate experiences with them now, all positive. Their English is limited (like our French) but we've made it work. It's a bit of a drive from Brussels, but it's been well worth it. So others know, we have two Hondas: an EU spec one and an Odyssey. The husband/owner/mechanic was confident and capable of dealing with our US spec Odyssey. I think they service a lot of them since they are closer to SHAPE. Plus, they let us order the parts from the states and bring them along so we could save money. Even without bringing our own parts, the cost is much lower than quotes from the dealership here in Brussels.

Community Help Service

- COMMUNITY HELP SERVICE BELGIUM (CHS):
www.chs-belgium.org/en/index.php/helpline/helpline-how-we-can-help-you

Although this website advertises that they are available to assist English speakers with mental health services, I've heard from some of our local friends that they also assist with other practical questions (such as lawyers, medical professionals, technicians, etc...) relating to life in Belgium. Here is a cut and paste from their website: Anonymous and confidential. Available 24/7. We listen without judgement. We support you through times of mild frustration, loneliness, anxiety, divorce, bereavement and thoughts of suicide. And more. We also have an additional database full of English speaking services: Doctors and other medical professionals, Emergency services, Lawyers, Notaries, and more - to help you sort out those practical issues.

- I just wanted to share for those interested and for any future searches...I had a pedicure at Mani-Pedi Nail and Beauty Spa this weekend. It was pretty good. They had three nice massaging chairs with foot baths and two manicure stations. The girl I had, Kristiana, was neat and thorough. It included a short foot massage as well. The pedicure lasted just under an hour and they allowed me to sit in my chair for 20 minutes and read while my toes dried thoroughly. It was easy to find, and there is a parking garage very close by if you drive. It would also be easily accessible by tram/metro. I recommend it and will go back myself for a manicure and pedicure next time. It is located on Avenue Louise near the Louise Metro stop. Oh, and the pedicure cost 45 Euro. I believe a manicure costs 20.

- I can't say enough good things about this salon. It reminds me of the one I loved back home, and a good American Salon experience is hard to come by here! The salon is in a great location in Kraainem, very easy access and has parking in their lot. It has a very upscale look but a very laid back atmosphere and serves a wide range of clients. The staff is very good with English and many clients there are English speaking. I personally have my hair done by Katherine and she is wonderful. Prices are reasonable, I pay around 130€ for cut and color. Katherine is British so English is not a problem

I've tried two stylists there – Laurent, one of the owners, and Elizabeth. Both were great for cut and color. The staff are all trilingual – English, French and Flemish – and several speak more than those three languages.☺

Helpful Hint

Pizza

- The pizza Margherita at every restaurant is the American cheese pizza.
- The Salami pizza is Pepperoni

- The cheese pizza in Belgium (with 4 cheeses) has very strong cheeses.

Restaurant tip

- Restaurants are often closed Mondays, reservations sometimes required, open lunch and/or dinner and not between those hours

Transformers/Adapters

- You have to look at everything you plug into the wall beforehand to see if you need a transformer or if you need an adapter. If it says 110V then you need a transformer no matter how small it is. To determine the size transformer, you need to look for the wattage (should be on the device). The size of the transformer is listed by wattage. As long as the transformer is bigger than the wattage you need then you are good. If the wattage is not listed then multiply the amps times the voltage and that will be your wattage. If your device says 110V-220V then you just need an adapter. Check any TV's and Computers for a switch that can be turned to 110V or 220V. Flip the switch before you plug it in or your device will fry and become a paper weight. US lamps usually work here with an adapter as long as you change the bulb to a 220 European light bulb.
